CRISIS BREWS OVER GERMAN SUBSEA EDICT

May Force U. S. to Warn Americans to Stay Off Belligerent Ships.

ENGLAND RESENTFUL

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., Feb. 11.—[Special.]—The utmost anxiety has been aroused in administration circles by the announcement from Berlin that the submarine powers will resume the submarine warfare upon commerce at the close of this month and will torpedo without warning any armed merchant vessel.

It is evident the Germans and Austrians intend to regard as armed any vessel carrying one or more guns, even though mounted astern for defensive purposes only.

It is feared that whether a ship is really armed, and therefore subject to destruction without warning like a warship, is destined to be an extremely complicated question.

ALL SUBMERGED SHIPS ARMED.

The German government has contended that all British merchant vessels are armed sufficiently to destroy submarines.

It is therefore expected that Germany will contend that every ship sunk after March 1st was armed and therefore entitled to no immunity. The result will be that Americans will not be safe in taking passage or shipping in the crew of any British, French, Italian, or Russian vessel.

The anxiety of the administration is caused not only by the prospective danger to which Americans will be exposed but by the predicament in which it finds itself as a result of the German proclamation.

U. S. BLAMED FOR WARFARE.

The administration is directly responsible for this resumption of submarine warfare. Several weeks ago Secretary of State Lansing proposed to the allies that in view of the assurance of the submarine powers to respect the immunity of peaceful merchant vessels they take steps to prevent such ships from carrying guns even for defensive purposes. His argument was that a vessel armed defensively and hitherto not classed as an armed ship is really armed offensively, because of the ease of sinking submarines with small caliber cannon.

NEUTRALITY LAW CHANGED.

At the same time, the secretary said, the administration contemplated changing the American neutrality regulations so as to class any ship carrying a gun as armed. The present regulations, based on international law, permit vessels carrying small guns of less than six inch caliber the port privileges of unarmed ships.

The secretary also said if the allies should not agree to his proposal the United States probably would declare all merchant ships carrying guns of any description armed ships and grant them only port privileges of belligerent warships.

It is this step should be taken Americans would be warned not to risk their lives on such armed ships, which might be sunk without warning.

SPURN U. S. REQUEST.

The allies have refused to accede to Mr. Lansing's proposals to forbid their merchant vessels to carry guns. At the same time, Germany and Austria have taken advantage of the opening given by the American government and announced that they intend to treat as armed any merchant ship carrying a gun.

The action of the submarine powers has the aspect of furthering the hand of the United States in regard to the action contemplated by the administration.

In the administration's view, the decision to keep off armed ships will be compelled to defend itself against the charge that the action was forced by the new German policy and that it invited the German move.

Clearly the allies are charging that the administration has played into the hands of Germany by proposing to change international law in the matter of the war, at least the president has said in regard to the German move.

Berlin Says British Lost New Cruiser

BULLETIN.

ROME, Feb. 11.—A wireless message from Syracuse states that a dispatch has been received there from the steamer Porto di Smyrne reporting that a S O S call was caught on board the steamer today from a French vessel being attacked by a German submarine.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—A Berlin official statement received here today claims that a British cruiser has been sunk by a German torpedo boat craft and another British cruiser torpedoed. The British official press bureau denies this.

Statement from Berlin.

The text of the German statement follows:

"On the night of the 10th and 11th, during an advance of our torpedo boats, our boats met on the Dogger bank, some 120 sea miles east of the English coast, several English cruisers, which at once fled. Our boats pursued them and sank the new cruiser Arctis, and obtained a hit with a torpedo on a second cruiser.

"Our torpedo boats rescued the commander of the Arctis with two officers and twenty-one men. Our forces suffered damage, but no losses."

Denial by London.

In giving out the German message for publication the press bureau appended the following:

"The British admiral states that the cruisers above mentioned were not mine sweeping vessels, three of which have returned safely."

[The British cruiser Arctis is not listed in the current annual publications. This is explained by the fact that the name of the new boat of the British navy have not been given out by the admiralty because of war conditions.]

Get Seats by Wire, Demand Room with Bath, and Change to Evening Clothes in a Jiffy.

New York, Feb. 11.—[Special.]—Chicago's "Gotham" and Manhattan's "Gotham" are both showing the same picture, and the result is a war of attrition between the two cities. The result will be that Americans will not be safe in taking passage or shipping in the crew of any British, French, Italian, or Russian vessel.

The anxiety of the administration is caused not only by the prospective danger to which Americans will be exposed but by the predicament in which it finds itself as a result of the German proclamation.

CHILD LEADS TO POSTAL THIEVES AND $575,000

Chicago Arrests for St. Paul Haul May Solve Canadian Bank Robbery.

3 MEN, 3 WOMEN HELD

A homeless little girl of six led federal secret service men and Chicago police detectives to their biggest "plink" in years last night.

In two trunks in the house on the south side to which the child had taken them, the operatives found the greater part of $575,000 worth of United States internal revenue stamps which were stolen by safe blowers from the federal building in St. Paul, Minn., on Jan. 6.

A raid on another house earlier in the day had yielded enough of the stolen stamps to make them practically certain that the entire lot had been recovered.

Since the robbery, said to be the largest in the history of the internal revenue department, the entire force of the federal secret service, under the personal direction of Chief W. J. Flynn of Washington, has been working on the case night and day. Flynn has been aided by the police of several cities and the Pinkerton detective agency.

WOMAN "BRAINS" OF BAND.

With the recovery of the stamps three men and their wives were arrested. One of the women is said to have been the "brains" of the robbery project, and one of the men, a safe blower with a long record, is believed to be the leader of the band which did the actual work.

Late at night secret service men and police detectives were searching the south side for several more suspects.

THREE COUPLES ARRESTED.

Those arrested are: EDWARD EDWARDS, alias Lotosky, 4600 South Maple avenue.

MRS. JULIA EDWARDS, his wife, alias Lotosky.

JOHN J. ECK, 9777 South Lincoln avenue, Leonard's brother-in-law, a workman on one of the Chicago surface lines.

MRS. ECK.

MICHAEL J. FLANNAGAN, a telephone operator at 4785 Archer avenue.

MRS. CATHARINE FLANNAGAN.

Zeek's little daughter, Evelyn, was the one who guided the secret service men under protest to the house where most of the booty had been hidden.

She had been warned not to tell and had withstood the wiles of the operatives for hours—but it was her home, and as it began to grow dark she admitted that she was "gettin' pretty homesick."

Then, after more questioning, she told the strange men where to go.

WESTMINSTER BANK CLEARED.

In Leonard's police and government operatives believe they have the leader of the gang which robbed the New Westminster branch of the Bank of Montreal of $772,000 in September, 1913. This unexpected development of the capture came to light when express receipts and correspondence were found in Leonard's effects indicating he had been in communication with New Westminster immediately before and after the Canadian robbery.

Flannagan has long been under suspicion in the New Westminster case, for it was his address on Westworth avenue which was said to have been the clearing house for the disposal of the stolen bank notes. He was arrested at the time, but escaped conviction.

TRACE ORIGIN TO WOMAN.

Mrs. Flannagan, according to the secret service men, planned the details of the St. Paul robbery and directed it from quarters which had been engaged for her in Minneapolis. Leonard, they declare, led the men who did the work.

Railroad Police Head Slain After Killing His Man

Night Duel in I. C. Yards at South Water Street Brings Aid Too Late.

BOTH CLUTCH PISTOLS

Cyrus B. Van Sickle, chief watchman of the Illinois Central freight yards, was shot to death and Thomas Morton, a freight handler, out of work, was fatally wounded last night in a revolver duel at Water street and the yards.

Whether attempted robbery or mistaken identity was the cause for the shooting could not be ascertained by Lieut. Fitzgerald, who headed a squad of police on the scene.

Heard by Employees.

The shooting was heard by a number of railway employees. Dennis Gray, engine foreman, Louis Menich, and C. L. Veale, yardmaster, went to seek the cause of the firing and came upon Morton, who was lying under a freight car and groaning in pain. In his hand was clutched a revolver.

"I am shot," he kept repeating. Upon questioning, he gave his name, but could not give any details of the affair.

Police Squad Arrives.

The police were summoned and Lieut. Fitzgerald and Sergeant Malone, with a squad of men, arrived. In the meantime the railway men proceeded with their search and came upon the body of Van Sickle in the rear of a warehouse in South Water street and almost at the edge of the water.

In the right hand was gripped a revolver. Every chamber was empty. The body was removed to a morgue, where it was discovered that Van Sickle had been shot through the body and had been dead an hour.

Morton Looking for Work.

Lieut. Fitzgerald questioned Morton, who was conscious at this time. "I went down there to look for work," he said. "I came here from California to look for work."

He lapsed into unconsciousness. He was removed to the Illinois Central hospital and then taken to the county hospital, where he died shortly after midnight.

The police, after questioning those about the freight yards, were of the opinion that both Van Sickle and Morton drew their revolvers when they failed to get satisfactory answers to each other's questions and began shooting and running at once. Morton was found lying several hundred yards from Van Sickle's body.

Wife and Children.

Van Sickle was in charge of the watchman service of the Illinois Central tracks, which are in isolated portions of the lake and river front. He lived at 466 East Thirty-third street.

Among his effects were found letters indicating that he has a wife and two children in Gottenburg, Neb. He had been living alone at the Thirty-third street address, which is a rooming house.

Morton has been a stewardess, shipper, and a sailor. He had lived in Appleton, and is said to have recently come from California.

2. All Comes About After Young Woman Loses Theater Tickets and Turns Detective.

A week ago Miss Grace Darling of 163 East Erie street lost her purse. It contained four tickets for a vaudeville theater and four others good last night at the Olympic. Also the purse contained a bank book and $2.

But the tickets were good for last night. Would that nothing is a detective of the detective school?

It did to Miss Darling because she had a tremendous curiosity to see who would be in the seats her tickets called for. So she went to the show with Robert R. Heron of 2115 Erie avenue.

In the seats she had bought were Mrs. James Maloney, 19 West Thirty-first street, and a party of friends. True, there was an argument. The women helped and the dispute went into the lobby, and then to the Central police station. Mrs. Maloney came down-town. So did Leonard Hickey, a brother-in-law.

STUDENT SAYS MISS LAMBERT POISONED SELF

Admits Being Present and Casting Her Off, Then Framing Alibi.

HELD FOR INQUEST.

(By a Special Correspondent.)

Madison, Wis., Feb. 12, 2 a. m.—William H. Orpet, a junior at the University of Wisconsin, broke down at 1 o'clock this morning and confessed to knowledge of the death by poisoning of Marion Lambert, the Lake Forest high school girl.

He said he met her in the woods near the Sacred Heart academy Wednesday morning by appointment, after writing her a letter.

He said she pleaded for two hours with him to renew a friendship with her. He said he declined.

Then, he said, he left her, and as he did she swallowed the prussic acid which caused her death.

SOURCE OF POISON UNFOLDED.

Detectives Toby and Beardsley and State's Attorney Dady profess to believe that he has not told the whole truth. He does not yet admit he actually saw the girl die. He has not explained where the poison came from.

But he has confessed that he lured the girl to the spot by a letter, cast her off, and then wrote another letter to be delivered at her house in Lake Forest after the finding of her body. This later letter was the main support of a well formed alibi he had built up for himself to indicate he had not left his room in Madison on the night preceding the girl's death.

ORPET FIVE HOURS.

Orpet's story was extracted after a five hour session with the officers and State's Attorney Dady. The story was taken by a stenographer in the presence of Mr. Dady and "The Tribune" representative. All other newspaper men and officers were barred from the room.

Orpet told a story of friendship with the girl that dated from the time both were in high school. At that time he came to know her well. After he left for Wisconsin the friendship continued and frequent letters were exchanged.

Finally, Orpet said, he became tired of it. He told her of his intention to cease corresponding with her, and this fact directly leads to her death.

ACCUSED OF FRANKING ALIBI.

The youth, who made his first admission to a "Tribune" reporter, was openly accused by the detectives of having framed an alibi in advance to conceal a crime. They asked him where the poison came from and what had become of the bottle that contained it. He steadfastly denied any knowledge of the prussic acid. He said the girl took the poison perhaps five minutes after he had spurned her. He had no knowledge that she intended killing herself.

During the two hours they

KENT WOULD GIVE MEDALS FOR 'MIGHT HAVE BEEN' HERO

California Man Would Have Munsterberg and Roosevelt Select Those to Be Honored.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 11.—[Special.]—Because Representative James H. Sherman of Toledo succeeded in getting the house to pass his "medal of honor" bill, giving pensions to 101 civil war veterans who distinguished themselves for gallantry "above and beyond the call of duty," Representative Kent of California today introduced a bill in the house "for the relief and encouragement of might-have-been heroes."

Mr. Kent states in the preamble of his measure:

"It is necessary to recognize heroism that goes beyond the call of duty even in times of peace. His resolution provides: 'That all persons in the United States of warlike aspirations who have been prevented from exhibiting their heroic patriotism and enjoying the emoluments thereof, including the holding of public office by the action of military or naval forces, or by the action of the great military or naval forces, shall be examined by a committee consisting of the great military or naval forces, and that in consideration of the services that they might have performed if given the opportunity under the enabling conditions of modern war, they should be granted medals of honor for latent superlative patriotism that they might have exhibited, which might have gone beyond the call of duty if not prevented from such exhibition by the military or naval forces.'

GOUCHER COLLEGE SENIORS STUDY LOVE AND MARRIAGE

Young Women Will Complete Education by Completing Love and Marriage—Invited to Ask Questions.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 11.—[Special.]—When the women class of 1916 is graduated from Goucher college next June one-half of its number will be authorities on love and the art of successful marriage.

By way of finishing the college education of the seniors Dr. Lillian Welch, lecturer in hygiene, yesterday inaugurated a weekly course of instruction on "love and marriage." About forty members of the senior class took part in the opening session of the course this afternoon.

Dr. Welch traced the history of marriage and the marriage ceremony from its origin at the opening meeting of the class. She told the seniors that the course would not be one of lectures but that the people would be expected to ask questions bearing on love and marriage, on which she would have her remarks. The subject was chosen as a subject of interest in the minds of the students.

Trapped by Call, Dentist and Aid Fight for Lives

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 11.—[Special.]—Dr. A. F. Johnson, a dentist, was summoned to the American Annex, a popular hotel, tonight for a professional call. His assistant, Charles Lody, accompanied him.

When they entered the room from which the call came they were set upon by two men, according to Lody's story. When the battle ended Dr. Johnson was found to have been shot in the head and perhaps fatally wounded. Lody was stabbed and seriously wounded, and another man, who had registered as W. R. Arnold of Mobile, Ala., had been slashed across the throat with a knife.

One of the assailants, according to Lody, is a doctor, a former associate of Dr. Johnson.

Stranger Makes a Call.

Dr. Johnson and Lody live and practice their profession at 4229 Flad avenue. This morning, Lody says, Dr. Johnson received a stranger at his office. After having his teeth cleaned the stranger requested Dr. Johnson to call at his room in the American Annex at night and remove a bridge from his wife's mouth.

The pair arrived at the hotel at 9 o'clock tonight and went to the room designated, which was on the sixth floor. When they knocked, the stranger opened the door, admitted the dentist and Lody, and then locked the door behind them.

Only one man was visible, Lody says, but on the bed was what appeared to be the body of a woman.

Lody Tells of Battle.

"The first thing I knew," Lody continued, "a pair of strong arms were around me, pinning my arms tightly to my side."

"I could see another man step from a closet door and begin shooting at Dr. Johnson."

"The man I was wrestling with forced me back on the bed against the supposed woman. It was a dummy, pillows covered with bed covers."

"As he pushed me to the bed I freed my hands. Wielding one arm across his neck, I reached into my pocket for my knife and cut his throat."

"You did not need to do that," he said, in a calm, even voice, although the blood was pouring from the wound."

Slashed by Other Enemy.

"Then he jumped up, and as I rose from the bed the other man slashed me down the back."

DAUGHTER OF EX-MAYOR IS REPORTED BETROTHED.

Rumor Links Names of Miss Edith Harrison and Son of W. R. Manierre.

It was reported from apparently authentic sources last evening that Miss Edith Harrison, only daughter of the former mayor, is engaged to be married and that the betrothal announcement will be made by Mr. Harrison soon.

The report linked Miss Harrison's name with that of Edson Manierre, son of William H. Manierre, 1507 Dearborn parkway. Mr. Manierre's family, like that of Miss Harrison, is one of the oldest and best known in Chicago.

Miss Harrison, who is one of the season's debutantes, has only recently recovered from an operation for appendicitis. Neither she nor her mother could be reached last night.

Some time before Christmas there was a report that young Mr. Manierre and Miss Harrison were engaged, but Mr. Harrison at that time denied it.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon learns from Trotter and Jall Reformer Is "Sham" Fraternity Man.

The romantic atmosphere that pervades about a fraternity house congealed into an unwelcome frigidity at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house, Evanston, yesterday when it became known Jack Murray, former corset attorney and self-established sociologist, was a "sham" "big."

Murray attained some Evanston note when, as attorney for a corset maker, he gave a corset as prize for the best exhibition of fox trotting at a public dance.

Then, with a companion, he dressed as a tramp and spent a night in the Evanston jail. Next he became a "reformer" and described conditions in the cells as he found them.

Lastly, it is said his fraternity "brothers" have labeled him "big" "climber" and have sealed him the liberty of the house in which he has been living.

Evans made his first appearance Thursday night when Second Deputy Funkhouser's appropriation was considered. He slipped into a seat in the corner of the room and listened carefully through, with an air of great uncertainty. He attended yesterday's session for two or three hours, but apparently found little to interest him. The commissioner of gas and electricity, city dealer, and the commissioner of public service were heard with regard to their appropriations, but the police department was not taken up.

$575,000 STAMP LOOT IS SEIZED; 3 COUPLES HELD

Chicago Arrests for St. Paul
Hail May Solve Canadian Bank Robbery.

had centered on her first, and a secret service man had occupied a seat directly opposite her in the train on which she returned to Chicago after the robbery.

Flanagan was frequently seen calling at the house on Kildea avenue. Leonard by this time was under suspicion as a result of investigations in St. Paul, and it was believed it was he whom Flanagan was meeting.

AFTER A LONG VIGIL.
Wednesday evening a dozen secret service men and revenue officers, a squad of police detectives, and two Pinkerton men, most of them armed with rifles, carried a vigil on the stairs about the Kildea avenue house. They were there all night, half frozen, and hunched up in automobiles with lamps extinguished. They continued to watch through the following day and night.

No one appeared, however, until yesterday morning, when Leonard and his wife entered the house. Then there was a rush and the two were seized before they could make any attempt to escape.

While a part of the detection took place, the federal building officers searched the Leonard's rooms from top to bottom under the floor, behind a bookcase, and in other likely hiding places they found thousands of revenue stamps, but they formed only a part of the loot.

GIRL LEADS TO CACHER.
Six-year-old Evelyn Zech was with her aunt and uncle when they were arrested. As he was led away Leonard turned to the child and was heard to whisper:

"Don't tell where you live, now!"
Several of the operatives at once swooped on the child and told her they were going to give her an automobile ride. They gave her pennies, bought her candy, and between times talked of her father and mother. "I was long vigil," "Where do you live?" they asked finally. "We're going to take you home."

The child was obedient until late in the afternoon. Then, admitting that "it was another kind of home," she said she lived somewhere on Lincoln street—fifty-five hundred and something.

HER HOUSE IS FOUND.
The house was located quickly, and Mrs. Zech was found with a baby in her arms and another playing on the floor of the living room. Her father did not tell her what they wanted until Zech came home from school and then they were taken into custody.

The operative did not have to search the house. Zech's mother had two large trunks, each filled to the top with revenue stamps of all denominations, from a fraction of a cent to $1000. A detailed count of the stamps will not be made until today, but a preliminary estimate indicated that with the stamps found at Leonard's rooms practically all of the loot had been recovered.

About $250 in cash, which was taken with the stamps, had been recovered, however, except for $25 which was found in Leonard's possession.

No Confessions Made.
The Flanagan, when they were arrested late in the evening at their home on Archer avenue, denied they had anything to do with the robbery or even knew Leonard and Zech. The others were questioned, but made no confession.

"Zech was taken to a cell at the Harrison street police station, Flanagan was locked up in the house on Kildea avenue, and Leonard was kept incommunicado at one of the outlying police stations.

Mrs. Flanagan was taken to her home under guard and the other women and children were kept in custody at the Madison hotel.

The investigation in St. Paul immediately after the robbery indicated the thieves had rented a room at the Birch street in Minneapolis and had used this as headquarters for their operations. One bill receipt had been signed by one "G. J. Flanagan." This, the operative say, they found afterward to have been Leonard.

Auto Shipped to Chicago.
The auto in the St. Paul federal building was taken with the Flanagan and the money taken into a federal automobile and taken to the room in Minneapolis. Several witnesses saw the machine on the night of the robbery and described it to the police. The car was found yesterday in the rear island, yards of the Rock Island railroad, with a receipt showing it had been shipped from Minneapolis by "Leo Miller."

After the robbery one or another of the band made trips to Chicago, each taking with them a part of the stolen stamps. A large truck, containing the lot, immediately arrived yesterday. By watching the movements of the Flanagan the operatives and police kept track of the trip back and forth and traced their children.

Wait to Act with Care.
Chief Flynn and William H. Morris, assistant chief of the secret service, have been dividing the information with Capt. Thomas J. Porter of the Chicago bureau for the last two weeks. A report of news from St. Paul Deputy Secretary also has been being detailed to reach on the spot.

"This is about the biggest case this city has handled and I am glad to say it is being handled so well."

Girl Gets Lovers' and Wants to Go Home—Detectives Then Are Led to House Where Stamp Loot Is Found.

practically cleaned up," said Capt. Porter. "We put in several nights watching the house of those suspected and when believed that about all the stamps had been moved, I was loaned a number of rifles by the Woodmen police and in automobiles we guarded the Leonard home in the cold. Several times policemen patrolling the beat through the night and early morning became suspicious of us and were about to arrest us, but changed their minds when the detectives with us explained the situation."

Get Bank Robbery Clue.
Leonard's supposed connection with the Canadian bank robbery was stumbled on when, in searching his effects, operatives found a number of express receipts for boxes and packages sent to New Westminster a few days before the robbery. These, it is believed, may have been shipments of safe blowing tools and other paraphernalia.

Several letters also were found, dated after the robbery and addressed to a Canadian attorney who defended several of the men arrested in the case. The authorities only succeeded in convicting one man.

Two Court Today.
The six prisoners will be arraigned this morning before United States Commissioner Mark A. Posa. Assistant District Attorney Michael L. Togo said he will demand $100,000 bonds for each.

"It's the biggest federal pinch in years," he said exultantly.

Leonard has a long criminal record and is known throughout the United States as an experienced and expert safecracker. Two years ago he served a term in the penitentiary at Marquette for auto-theft.

Flanagan has long been known to the police as a "fixer" for the operations of his gang, but seldom has permitted himself to be caught. Capt. Porter believes he was to have negotiated the disposal of the stolen revenue stamps.

The stamps were of various kinds designed for documents, white and colored, proprietary articles, and tobacco.

At the time of the robbery the government offered a reward of $200 apiece for the capture of the robbers.

Flanagan was indicted on a charge of receiving a part of the money stolen from the New Westminster bank and was later arrested on a charge of having altered the serial numbers on some of the Canadian bills which were passed, but he was not convicted on either charge.

BOY MISSING FROM HOME.
Cyril Matthews, 9 years old, the son of Russell Matthews, 934 East Thirty-third street, an employee of Armour & Co., left his home on Thursday to play and since has been missing. ## CITES DANGERS AMERICA FACES WITH NO DEFENSE

President James of Illinois Says
Situation Is Acute; Should Be Remedied at Once.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 11.—The immediate needs of the country as pointed out from lessons learned from the European war were discussed by Edmund J. James, president of the University of Illinois, at the twenty-seventh annual dinner of the Pennsylvania Scotch-Irish society here tonight. The conflict abroad, he declared, "has created an acute situation which we must meet, and meet promptly, by temporary measures, if we must, but by the adoption as soon as possible of permanent and far-reaching policies."

Our first and most immediate need, Mr. James said, is "a more effective system of national defense, not for aggression, but to enable the United States to maintain its rights as a nation and to protect its citizens everywhere. He favored a 'universal liability to military service,' and a world league to enforce peace, 'with power behind it and willingness to use the power.'

He favored a 'universal liability to military service,' and a world league to enforce peace, 'with power behind it and willingness to use the power.'

Industrial insurance, pension, the education of immigrant children to the duties and privileges of American citizenship, and similar subjects.

"Why cannot our leaders in Washington and elsewhere," he asked, "give their attention to such problems, instead of to the best methods of extracting more pork from the national barrel?"

SLATES SHOW BITTER FIGHTS FOR WARD RULE

Republicans and Democrats
Carry Differences to Spectacular Point.

The decks were cleared yesterday for a spectacular and bitter fight for control in both the Republican and Democratic party organizations of Cook county.

With the first day for filing petitions of candidates for ward committeemen the Thompson, Denison, and Sullivan factions put in practically complete slates. The Harrison people filed about half of their slate selections. The others will be filed in a few days.

In most of the wards where the fight is the hottest Denison and Sullivan are the boys of the ballot when the names were certified by County Clerk Robert M. Seatter.

One of the unexpected developments was the appearance of a Republican petition for City Treasurer Charles H. Sargent, the former Earl Morris (Judge), who was elected on the Union ticket. Mr. Sargent entered the field as a Republican and will try to defeat both the Thompson and Denison candidates in the third ward.

In the Twenty-fifth ward the Thompson, Denison, and Sullivan factions squared away for a three-cornered fight. Denison is backing James, Sargent, Thompson is backing Dr. Leight, and the Harrison people are backing George Schmidt.

This is the only ward in which the Denison and Sullivan people will clash. In the other wards their forces will be united against Mayor Thompson's candidacy.

A few candidates filed petitions independent of the slates.

ALDERMEN HEAR SALOONKEEPER'S A FINE FELLOW

It's Cabarets That Menace Chicago, Says Ex-Lawyer
Liquor Salesman.

Just for a change the city commission on liquor problems listened yesterday to a machine gun champion of "John, a philanthropist."

"John" was created for the purpose of the meeting by G. H. Wischman, Mr. Wischman says he has been admitted to the practice of law at any bar in the state, but he prefers to practice salesmanship in some of the 7,150 licensed bars of Chicago which he visits as a representative of "the oldest wholesale liquor house in this city."

In order that he might portray his subject vividly, he straddled the average, small, respectable saloonkeeper, "John," and then he expounded upon "John's" magnificent qualities and his manifold difficulties. But, above all things else, "John" is a philanthropist. Mr. Wischman said so, not once, but many times.

"He doesn't go into the business as a money making proposition," he said. "He goes into it principally for sociality purposes."

What Speaker Said.
Here are some more of the speaker's rapid fire utterances:

"Every bottled beer wagon is a walking saloon rolling along on wheels. Make it pay a $10,000 license fee."

"Pass an ordinance prohibiting the display of bottled goods in any window. Then the women won't go in and buy the fancy package containing a mixture made in the basement."

"Destroy the liquor trade of the drug stores, the department stores, and the grocery stores. There is more whiskey being consumed in Chicago today than ever before."

"The cabaret is the vilest institution in our life today. A young girl becomes intoxicated, not only with the drink, but with the glamour of it, and a man can do almost anything with her."

"I would destroy the cabaret joint. I am in the loop for half an hour, and my man can tell me that a cabaret is a benefit to a city. For God's sake, let's have common decency. The cabaret is not semi-respectable. It is the vilest institution in the city and never had any business here. Either run the cabaret without liquor or run the saloon without

Against Use of Wagon.
John W. Matheis, proprietor of a saloon at 1130 West Adams street, told the commission that there are from 500 to 600 beer and whisky wagons in use in Chicago at present. He informed the commission that the saloonkeepers' association was suggesting to all aldermanic candidates that wholesale liquor dealers should be granted retailers' licenses.

In reply to a statement by Mr. Wischman that the saloonkeepers' association was suggesting to all aldermanic candidates that wholesale liquor dealers should be granted retailers' licenses.

The leader of the social elite of Chicago is Mrs. Potter Palmer. She controls the Palmer house. You can get a drink at her bar this minute. I guess she produces 75 per cent of the profits. Also Lincoln at one time was a saloonkeeper. George Washington had a distillery, and when Jesus Christ wanted company he joined a Jewish saloonkeeper, instead of going out among the Pharisees.

LORIMER TRIAL THURSDAY
SET BEFORE JUDGE DEVER

Court Puts Off Telephone Case So
Charges in Connection with Bank
Wrapping Can Be Heard.

William Lorimer, who at one time occupied a seat in the United States senate and now under indictment on conspiracy and other charges in connection with the wrecking of the La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank, will be placed on trial before Judge Dever in the Criminal court next Thursday morning. This was agreed upon yesterday after Albert Fink, Lorimer's attorney, appeared before Judge Dever and asked again that his client be given an immediate trial.

The case had been set to come up on Monday, when another continuance had been expected because of suit between two telephone companies now being heard by Judge Dever. After the appearance of Mr. Fink and Assistant State's Attorney Hayden N. Bell, Judge Dever said the telephone suit would be interrupted to be resumed again at the close of the Lorimer trial.

SUNDAY EVENING CLUB HOME, WISH

President and Founder Clifford W. Barnes Hopes for Building of Own.

Hopes that the Chicago Sunday Evening club, which has met for nine years in Orchestra hall, some day will possess a building of its own and become a firmly established agency of civic and individual uplift is the dream of its founder and president, Clifford W. Barnes.

Tomorrow evening the club will celebrate the ninth anniversary of its birth. This is the first time the club has taken time to congratulate itself or receive the congratulations of others on its birthday anniversary.

Hopes for Idea.
"By the club's tenth anniversary," Mr. Barnes said yesterday, "I hope the thought will get into the mind of some person of wealth to erect as a memorial a building which will be used for the civic betterment and spiritual uplift of Chicago and will give a permanent home for the Sunday Evening club."

"I can say this much now—that I know of at least one will which provides for a bequest to the club."

"I have given my time to the work of the club this far, but it is probable the time may come when some one will have to be paid for doing what I have been able to do without cost."

How Idea Started.
Mr. Barnes said the idea of the Chicago Sunday Evening club was formed in his mind while working in behalf of American students in the Latin quarter in Paris. While there he found a few Christian students gathered for a service. By renting an attractive and well known and well located hall and securing as speakers visitors in Paris of political or commercial prominence an audience of 800 was gathered. The success of this movement led him to the starting of the Chicago Sunday Evening club.

Tomorrow evening William F. Hyatt of Marshall Field's will speak on the club as "A Business Asset." Ald. Robert M. Buck will speak of it as "A Civic Institution" and the Rev. Charles Hayard Mitchell of the St. James Methodist Episcopal church as "A Spiritual Force."

John W. O'Leary, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, will read the scriptures. The Rev. Edgar F. Hill of the Presbyterian church will offer prayer. Charles W. Clark, Mrs. Mabel Sharp Herdlin, and John B. Miller will sing special numbers.

Bank on "Uncle Joe."
The women did not succeed in getting Congressman Joe Cannon personally to tell them he is for suffrage, but they are depending upon the variety of numerous newspaper reports of several months ago in which he was quoted as coming out for woman suffrage.

Senator Sherman and Lewis have assured the Chicago suffragists they will do their utmost to aid the cause of national suffrage.

CONGRESSMEN OF ILLINOIS TAKE SUFFRAGE PLEDGE

Twenty-six of Twenty-seven Counted as Supporters of Women's Cause.

Illinois will have at least twenty-six of its twenty-seven congressmen and its two United States senators pledged to vote for suffrage when the Susan B. Anthony amendment granting national woman suffrage comes before congress. The twenty-seventh congressman is to be interviewed in the meantime.

The Illinois suffragists had thirteen new congressmen to work on after the last election. All but two Illinois members of the previous congress voted for suffrage or pledged in favor of it. These two were not returned.

These Take the Pledge.
The new men who are listed in the records of Mrs. Edward L. Stewart, congressional chairman of the Illinois Equal Suffrage association, as "for" are:

W. W. Wilson, third district.
James E. McPherson, fourth district.
George Edmund Felt, fifth district.
Charles E. Fuller, twelfth district.
Edward J. Kling, fifteenth district.
John A. Rudin, seventeenth district.
Joseph O. Cannon, eighteenth district.
William M. McKim, nineteenth district.
Lewis E. Woodley, twenty-first district.
Thomas E. Williams, twenty-fourth district.
E. E. Davenport, twenty-fifth district.

William Elm Williams, congressman-at-large, is a Jewish saloonkeeper, instead of going out among the Pharisees.
